

CANADIAN WATER RESOURCES ASSOCIATION APPOINTMENTS

14 July 2011

Dillon enjoys a long-standing relationship with the Canadian Water Resources Association (CWRA) and has several employees active in the organization. We also grant a scholarship each year through CWRA's scholarship program.

Andrew Chan from the Calgary office was recently elected vice president of the CWRA's Alberta Branch, and Mark Brobbel from the Oakville office was elected president of the Ontario Branch. Both Andrew and Mark have been members of the CWRA for many years and follow in the footsteps of past national directors, such as Jennifer Harker. Through their respective branch contributions, Andrew and Mark promote CWRA's mandate to raise awareness of the value of water and the need for responsible and effective water resource management in Canada, while promoting Dillon among CWRA members.

Mark recently played a leading role in the organization and facilitation of a symposium in Toronto entitled, Exploring Ontario's Water Opportunities: Innovative Technologies for Sustainable Resource Management. Andrew has helped organize several Alberta Chapter conferences and is one of the lead organizers for the 2012 national conference to be held in Banff, Alberta, on the 5th to 8th of June 2012. This conference, entitled, Earth, Wind and Water: Elements of Life, will be jointly held with the Canadian Geophysical Union.
