The City of Windsor hired Dillon to complete detailed design, contact administration and construction observation for the reconstruction of a complex urban intersection in the City of Windsor. This project included design elements such as combined sewers, watermain coordination, advanced utility coordination, concrete pavement, construction staging and urban design coordination. Significant effort was put into assisting the City of Windsor with property acquisition to accommodate the road improvements.

Susan St. Louis, Laura DiPonio, Andy Coghill, Kyle Edmunds and Craig Pass were project team members, with John Zangari as the project risk manager.

Dear Sir:

Re: Walker and Wyandotte Intersection Construction

As you know, I'm one of the partners at the law firm office located at the intersection of Wyandotte Street and Walker Road. I'd like to take this opportunity on behalf of my firm to thank everyone involved and who contributed to this project. While I most certainly don't profess to be knowledgeable on the ins and outs of road construction, I can say that the result looks tremendous. Everyone here is very pleased with the final results. While I'm sure no one likes to be inconvenienced with road work in front of one's office, this project went very smoothly, with minimal interruption to our business. It progressed much better than I had originally expected.

I would especially like to thank both you personally and Andy from Dillon Consulting. As with any project of this size, there are bound to be some unforeseen issues. You both handled all of the matters that arose with great professionalism and courtesy. You should each be commended for a great job.

Thank you again for all your help and patience.

Yours very truly,
Chodola Reynolds Binder
